You'll find every
Victor Record at Landay's

Opera or popular song, dance music or instrumental solo, if it's a Victor record, Landay has it. Our four large stores cater to all classes of music lovers. We can therefore carry all the Victor records—an impossibility with a smaller organization.

Come to Landay's to hear and select your records. The ones you ask for will be played on the style Victrola you prefer. Of course, we carry every Victor instrument, too, as well as the records.

Artists like Hempel, Bori, Elman, McCormack and others appreciate the record service we are able to give—so will you.

Don't you want to hear some of the latest records this week? Come in—we will be only too glad to play them for you.

Boys and girls and their mothers grow vegetables at East Sixty-fourth Street and the river, on land lent by the Rockefeller Foundation and the National Flower and Plant Guild.

The youngest farmer. He (unless he happens to be a she) grows corn so tall that he (or she) can't reach up to pick the ears when they ripen—which ought to be at any time now.

Some of the mothers, with Miss Markowitz, the instructor, who may be identified by her Fifth Avenue hat. This photograph was made at beet picking time.
